Introduction

During my internship at Grey Advertising Bangladesh, I got the opportunity to work as a Client Service Intern with the bKash team. Grey is one of the well-known advertising agencies in Bangladesh, working on different types of creative and marketing campaigns. My internship gave me the opportunity to experience how an advertising agency works and how different teams work together to complete a campaign.

As a Client Service Intern, my main role was to take briefs from the client and work with the Strategy Team to plan the communication. After that, I worked with the Creative Team to develop the required content and visuals. I also followed up on the work, checked the copy and visuals, and shared the work with the client after the necessary changes.

This internship helped me understand the connection between the client and the agency. I learned how a simple client brief goes through different stages before becoming a final campaign. Working with the bKash team also gave me practical experience in client communication, campaign planning, creative work, teamwork, and quality checking

PROJECTS

Project 1

Origami Preparation for bKash Campaign

Starting Date: 3 May 2026

End Date: 18 May 2026

Published Date: 1 month

Project Brief:

As one of my first assignments at Grey Advertising Bangladesh, I was involved in preparing origami materials for a bKash campaign. The creative team designed the concept, while my role was to prepare the required origami pieces according to the specifications. Since this was my first production-related task, it helped me understand how even small details contribute to the successful execution of an advertising campaign.

My Responsibilities:

- Prepared the required origami pieces following the design instructions.
- Maintained consistency in size, shape, and finishing.
- Completed the work within the assigned deadline.

Image 1 The Half Origami Tutorial For clients

Image 2 The Practice I made for Origami Bird

Supervisor Approved

The origami work was completed with Polash Bhai, (Creative Supervisor) and the final work was illustration by the supervisor.

Image 3 Final Origami are made by me And Creative

My Mistakes:

During this project, I initially faced difficulties in maintaining uniform folds and completing the origami pieces within the expected time. A few pieces had to be remade because they did not match the required standard. After receiving feedback from my supervisor, I became more careful about precision and time management. This experience taught me the importance of following instructions accurately, paying attention to details, and checking the quality of work before submission.

My Learning

This was my first project at Grey. I learned how to follow creative instructions, work with the Creative Team, and complete a task within a given time. I also learned the importance of patience and attention to detail.

Project 2

bKash Toll Vertical Eid Campaign

Starting Date: 20 May 2026

End Date: 28 May 2026

Published Date: 8 Day

Project Brief

During my internship at Grey Advertising Bangladesh, I worked on the bKash Toll Vertical Campaign, which was launched before Eid. The campaign promoted the Electronic Toll Collection (ETC) service through bKash. It included different static materials such as leaflets, X-banners, POSM, mobile app hero banners, and push banners. Before the final design was approved, the team prepared several layout options with different changes in visuals and copy.

My Responsibilities

- Made a PowerPoint presentation to show the campaign mock-ups to the client.
- Arranged the campaign materials in the presentation so the client could easily understand how they would look.
- Checked the static copies before they were sent for printing.
- Supported the Client Service team during the review process.

My Mistakes

This was my first time working with printed materials. While checking the static copies, I missed a few small details before printing like logo fixing,

My Learning

After discussing the issue with my seniors, I learned that every artwork needs to be checked carefully before final printing. This project helped me improve my attention to detail and gave me a better understanding of the print production process

Project 3

Starting Date: 1 April 2026

End Date: Ongoing

Published Date: on going

Project Brief

bKash has been working with Bishwa Shahitto Kendro (BSK) for the last 12 years to encourage children to read books. Through this partnership, more than 13 lakh books have been given to children across Bangladesh.

I have been working on this project since May 2026, and it is still ongoing. The main event is planned for September 2026 to celebrate the 48th anniversary of Bishwa Shahitto Kendro (BSK). This is one of the major bKash projects I have been involved in, where I have worked on different content, creative, and campaign-related tasks.

To celebrate the 48th anniversary of BSK, bKash planned a big event, which is expected to take place in September. The event will have a theatre performance, a book wall, and many other activities. The main goal of this event is to set a Guinness World Record and inspire more children to read books.

My Responsibilities

- Made content ideas for reels and social media.
- Prepared mnemonic ideas and photoshoot ideas.
- Transcribed the interview speech of Abdullah Abu Sayeed Sir.
- Helped create a digital story for the campaign.
- Collected the latest key visuals from the Creative Team and shared them with the team.
- Supported my supervisor with different campaign tasks when needed.
- Interview session to real user student

Digital Story (Cut-Piece Video)

I worked on the full scripting of the cut-piece video and also supervised the editing process. I worked with Sajeeb Bhai, Art Director, who helped me during the creative and editing process. This gave me practical experience in developing a digital story from the initial idea to the final video.

Key Visual:

The key visual and mnemonic were developed with the Creative Team. My role was to coordinate between my team and the Creative Team and make sure the latest key visual and mnemonic were collected and shared with the client on time. I also followed up on changes and updates throughout the process.

Interview Session:

The interview session with real users is still ongoing. I am working on the transcription of the interviews and helping to turn the interviews into scripts. I am doing this work with Rifka Apu, Creative Supervisor, and taking her guidance throughout the process.

Image13: Meeting Minutes 1

Mistakes

The key visuals changed many times during the project, so it was sometimes hard to keep track of the latest version. I also made a demo photoshoot layout, but my first work was not good enough because I did not have much experience. The Day of online interview session I didn't do online recording that time miss 1st interview session While arranging the script, I missed some important points and had to correct them later. During the interview transcription, I also made a few mistakes in the minute and second timings.

Learning

This project helped me understand how a big campaign is planned before it is launched. I learned to check every file carefully before sharing it with others. I also learned how to write better content, organize my work, and accept feedback from my supervisor. The transcription work improved my listening skills and taught me to be more careful with small details.

Project 4

FIFA World Cup × bKash Pay Bill Content Plan – Knockout Phase (21–30 June)

Starting Date: 5 June 2026

End Date: 30 June 2026

Published Date: 1 month

Project Brief

The bKash team developed a Pay Bill contextual campaign connected with the FIFA World Cup. Since people were watching the matches on TV using dish and internet services, the campaign connected these viewing habits with the bKash Pay Bill service. The campaign included jingle songs, dynamic content, static content, and a mass TV commercial based on the hydration break during the match.

My Responsibilities

- Developed three content plans for the FIFA World Cup × bKash Pay Bill campaign.
- Worked on the TV broadcast concept with my supervisor and supervised the overall development.
- Coordinated with the Creative and Copy Teams to develop the required content.
- Prepared the content planning PPT and presented the ideas for discussion.
- Followed up on the creative development and checked the copy and visuals.
- Coordinated with the client and internal teams to ensure the final outputs matched the campaign brief.

Content Planning:

First, I prepared a PPT outlining the FIFA-related content ideas, where we developed three different creative routes for the campaign planning. Then, I wrote a sample copy as a reference for the Copywriter to help develop the final campaign communication.

Visual planning:

I developed visual ideas for the FIFA-related social media content and jingle. I also created visual concepts showing how the content could be presented, including an idea connecting football team formation with bill formation. These visuals helped the Creative Team understand the direction and develop the final content.

Bill Formation

Final Visual: The client really liked this visual, so they decided to turn it into a dynamic content piece for the campaign.

Jingle Song:

We created a World Cup jingle around the line “দলে দলে কোন্দল, বিকাশ Pay Bill একদল”, connecting the excitement of football with the bKash Pay Bill campaign.

TVC:

The main theme of the Pay Bill contextual campaign was the hydration break during the FIFA World Cup. My Team created a dynamic broadcast TVC around this moment to connect the match with the Pay Bill message. The idea was to use the natural break in the game to create a timely and engaging brand communication.

My Mistakes

At the beginning of the project, I was quite clumsy and made several mistakes during the QC process, especially in checking copy, alignment, and small details. I also struggled to properly brief the Art Director and Creative Team, which sometimes caused miscommunication. I occasionally missed small changes while reviewing the work and had to recheck the materials before sending them to the client. During one client meeting, I relied on notes generated by ChatGPT, which contained incorrect information and created confusion. These mistakes taught me to double-check information, take clearer notes, communicate briefs properly, and carefully review everything before sharing it with the client.

My Learning

This project taught me to understand the brief properly before communicating it to others. I learned to take my own clear notes during meetings and verify information before sharing it. I also became more careful with QC and learned how important clear briefing and coordination are in client service.

Project 5

Anti-Fraud Awareness Content – New Cases

Starting Date: 20 May 2026

End Date: 20 July 2026

Published Date: 2 Month

Project Brief

This project was assigned to me in June by Asif Bhai, my supervisor. It was one of the projects where I got the opportunity to take more ownership of the work. The project focused on creating awareness about two types of fraud: Merchant Transaction Fraud and Loan Fraud.

bKash has an ongoing anti-fraud awareness campaign to help people understand different types of fraud and stay safe while using bKash services. The main purpose of the content was to explain how these frauds can happen and make users more aware of such situations. The communication needed to be simple and easy to understand so that users could identify possible fraud and take the right steps to stay safe.

My Responsibilities

- Collected the copy from Omar Bhai, Copywriter, and made sure it was ready for the next step.
- Prepared the voice-over (VO) script based on the approved copy.
- Collected the required information and feedback from the client.
- Worked with Minhaz Bhai on the illustration part of the project.
- Helped with the illustration work according to the approved script.
- Coordinated between the copy, script, client feedback, and illustration work to keep the project moving.

Understanding the Previous work bKash Limited started its Anti-Fraud Campaign in 2025. Based on the existing visual style of the campaign, we tried to make the communication more dynamic by creating characters and using them in the new content.

Final Visual : First, I had to sit with the Creative Art Director and discuss the design idea, such as keeping around 30% bKash yellow in the visual, deciding the layout, and choosing the right level of color grading. Based on these discussions, the final visual was developed.

Image 23: Anti Fraud Dynamic Frame 3 1

Final Dynamic:

<https://www.facebook.com/reel/1362608292455944>

Mistake:

In this project, I initially made some mistakes while working with the copy because I did not fully understand how the client wanted the work. I had to prepare the VO twice because the first versions did not match the client's requirements. I also did not check the final output properly before sharing it. As a result, the first video had several small glitches that needed to be fixed.

My Learning

This project taught me to understand the client's requirements more carefully before starting the work. I learned to check the copy and VO properly and confirm the details before sharing them with the client. I also learned the importance of checking the final video carefully to find any glitches before delivery. This project helped me improve my communication, quality checking, and attention to detail.

Project 6

bKash Class XI Admission Campaign

Starting Date: 5 june 2026

End Date: 15 july 2026

Published Date: 1Month

Project Summary

This campaign focused on promoting the bKash Class XI Admission Payment service. The campaign was designed to communicate the August 2026 admissionbatch payment offer and discount to students in a simple and clear way.

Project Brief

The campaign promoted the bKash payment option for Class XI admission. The main campaign line communicated that students could pay their admission fees through bKash and receive a Tk. 50 discount coupon.The campaign required different creative materials, including static and dynamic key visuals, payment flow communication, in-app content, website content, and POSM materials. The POSM materials included X-banners, Roman banners, and festoons in different sizes.The creative team also needed short and crisp versions of the campaign line for spaces where there was limited room.

My Responsibilities

- Worked with the Creative and Art Team to develop the key visual for the campaign.
- Shared the client's visual requirements, including the school/campus setting, character style, and overall composition.
- Followed up on the KV development and communicated the required changes to the Creative Team.
- Checked the visual based on the client's feedback and guidelines.
- Coordinated copy and visual requirements for the static and dynamic KV.

- Followed up on the required POSM materials and other campaign deliverables.

Key Visual

This campaign used a general KV that was adapted for different colleges and schools. Around 20 payment flow variations were developed for different institutions. The campaign also included specific college KVs, X-banners, and POSM materials based on the requirements of each locatio

Process Flow Work

One of the most challenging parts of my internship was working on process flows and user flows. During my three-month internship, I worked on around 250 process flows, where I had to carefully check both the design and copy at every step.

The Class XI Admission Campaign process flows were one of the most important and challenging ones because every step had to be accurate and easy for users to understand. Even a small mistake in the copy, design, or flow could create confusion for the user. I had to carefully check each step and coordinate with the relevant teams.

Image 27 : Procces Flow web banner 1

My Mistake:

This was one of the most challenging campaigns I worked on during my internship. The project went through around 108 corrections, mainly because there were many different visuals and process flows to coordinate. I sometimes missed small but important details, such as the amount, copy, school-specific information, dress color, character type, and whether the client wanted a male or female character. I also sometimes missed new character or visual changes while coordinating multiple versions. Just before the launch, on 28 June, I had a family emergency and had to leave my work. I still had to coordinate the pending work, which was challenging

My Learnings:

This project taught me how to manage a large number of visuals and process flows carefully. I learned to check every detail before sharing the work and track of all changes and versions. I also improved my coordination and time management skills and learned how to stay responsible during a busy campaign. It also taught me to communicate clearly with different team members and ask for clarification when I am unsure. I became more careful about checking information before sending it to the client.

Project 6:

bKash Forest – “Double Green” Feature Campaign

Starting Date: 18 June 2026

End Date: On Going

Published Date: On Going

Project Summary

This was a new bKash Forest feature-related project focused on introducing the idea of “Double Green.” The project connected digital growth with environmental protection and explored different ways to communicate bKash’s green initiatives to the public.

Project Brief

The main idea was to show how digital transactions can support a greener future by reducing the use of paper, fuel, and other physical resources. The campaign was planned in three phases: Awareness, Engagement, and Sustainability.

Different creative ideas were discussed, including tree planting, contributor notifications, social media sharing, corporate partnerships, and creating awareness about planting the right tree in the right place. Another key idea was to make the local forest caretaker a campaign hero and show the long-term impact of the forest initiative.

- Helped the editor during the video development and editing process.
- Supervised the script and made sure the information was properly presented.
- Collected the required visuals from the Creative Team.
- Attended meetings with the Strategy Team to understand the campaign planning and communication process.

- Supported the team in developing the content based on the project direction.

Media Coverage:

The bKash Bon feature received publicity through leading newspapers and digital media platforms, including Prothom Alo, The Daily Star, FrontPage, and Markedium. The feature was also shared across various social media pages, increasing its reach and audience engagement.

Mistakes

Initially, I had difficulty understanding how a feature campaign is planned and executed. I sometimes needed more time to understand the creative brief and coordinate with different teams. I also made some mistakes while checking and organizing creative materials.

Learnings

Through this project, I learned how a creative feature is developed from the initial idea to the final execution. I learned how to coordinate with the Creative, Strategy, and Client Service teams and understood how key visuals and illustrations are developed for a campaign. I also gained knowledge about how a campaign receives publicity through newspapers, digital media, and social media platforms. Most importantly, I learned that proper communication, teamwork, and careful checking are essential for effective client servicing.

Project 8

bKash – UNICEF Partnership Campaign

Starting Date: 28 July 2026

End Date: On Going

Published Date: On Going

Project Brief

The campaign focuses on encouraging people to donate to UNICEF through the bKash mobile wallet. The main communication will focus on the impact of donations and build trust among potential donors. The campaign will include a Key Visual, app assets, website banners, website write-up, awareness content, influencer-led and brand-led content, and other digital communication materials. The campaign is currently in the planning and development stage and will focus on encouraging people to donate to UNICEF through bKash.

The creative communication will be developed in Bangla, with the campaign focusing on creating an emotional connection rather than only explaining the functional benefits of donation.

My Responsibilities

- Took and organized the minutes of meetings and noted important discussion points.
- Followed the UNICEF campaign guidelines while working on the project.
- Reminded my team about upcoming meetings and important timelines.
- Collected the latest Key Visuals from the Creative Team and aligned them with the copy.
- Followed up on the KV and copy development to keep the work on track.
- Supported the team with the upcoming shoot preparation, which is currently in progress.

Key Line: "বিকাশ থেকে UNICEF-ডোনেশন শিশুর জীবনে আনার পরিবর্তন"

Product/Service attribute:	bKash-enabled donation flow — instant, low-friction mobile wallet giving with no cash handling or bank visit required. My Mistakes

In this project, I faced difficulties while working on the Key Visual, especially with the image selection for Mehjaben, as the visuals were not working properly at first. I also made mistakes while taking the meeting minutes and sometimes noted the information incorrectly. I did not always keep track of the creative outputs properly, which caused me to miss some updates.

My Learning

This project taught me to take clear and organized meeting notes and confirm important points before sharing them with the team. I also learned to follow up on creative outputs regularly and keep track of every update. Most importantly, I learned that proper coordination and attention to detail are very important when working on a large campaign.

Special Note

“I could not add the final key visual because the project has not been launched yet and is still under client feedback and revision. Therefore, I have only included the planning and creative development process in my portfolio.”

Project 9

G2P – Generic Campaign Development

Starting Date: 5 January 2026

End Date: On Going

Published Date: On Going

Project Brief

This project focused on updating the communication materials for bKash's Government Partnership (G2P) services. Previously, separate materials were used for Allowance and Stipend services. The new communication brings both services together under one campaign line.

The main campaign line was:

“সরকারি ভাতা ও উপবৃত্তি পেতে ভরসা পাই বিকাশ-এ”

The team needed to update the existing communication materials with the new unified message. The required POSM materials included:

- Backdrop: 5 ft × 3 ft – for activation booths
- Table Mask: 4 ft × 2.5 ft – for activation and installation in front of the table
- Banner: 4 ft × 3 ft – for Auto/Rickshaw
- Poster: 29 inch × 19 inch – for agent points
- Festoon: Regular size – for agent points

My Responsibilities

- Took the brief and understood the requirements for each POSM.
- Coordinated with the Creative Team for the updated designs.

- Followed up on the different POSM sizes and requirements.
- Checked the copy and visual alignment with the campaign line.
- Followed up on corrections and updated versions before sharing the final work.

Project Draft

Created an illustration-based poster for the campaign, focusing on the main message and visual communication. worked on the illustration and poster layout to make the communication simple and easy to understand.

জনসচেতনতায়: বিকাশ

Image 38: G2P Poster Banner

Key Visual:

The Key Visual features three real-life characters representing different beneficiaries of the service. After around 120 rounds of client feedback and corrections, the final POSM design was approved. The final visual was created to clearly communicate the campaign message while keeping the bKash brand identity consistent.

Image 39 : G2P Key Visual

Image 40 : G2P X Banner

My Mistakes

At the beginning, I had difficulty keeping track of the different POSM sizes and versions. I also had to be more careful while checking whether the copy and visual were properly aligned with the new campaign communication.

My Learning

This project helped me understand how one campaign message needs to be adapted for different types of physical materials. I also learned to keep better track of sizes, versions, copy, and visual requirements when working on multiple deliverables.

Project 10

Name bKash Pay Later Campaign – “বাকিতে মোবাইল রিচার্জ”

Starting Date: February 2026

End Date: On Going

Published Date: On Going

Project Brief

The campaign focused on promoting the bKash Pay Later service, allowing users to recharge their mobile balance now and pay later. The communication aimed to present the service as a convenient solution for users who need an instant mobile recharge but may not have sufficient balance at that moment.

The objective of the campaign was to communicate the “recharge now, pay later” concept in a simple and relatable way. The campaign included a TVC that highlighted the convenience of bKash Pay Later for mobile recharge. I worked on this project under the guidance of Zahid Bhai, Account Manager, and was involved in coordinating and following up on the campaign’s creative development.

My Responsibilities

- Joined the “Bakite Mobile Recharge” TVC project three days before the shoot.
- Contributed costume ideas for the TVC.
- Coordinated with the team during the pre-production and shoot preparation.
- After the shoot, supported the campaign launch, which went live on the 18th.
- Worked on the Hero Push and Web Banner for the campaign.
- Collected the required creatives from the Creative Team.
- Checked and corrected the copy before finalizing the creatives.
- Collected Nishor’s recent photos for image finishing.

- Coordinated with the Creative Team to ensure the final visuals were properly prepared for launch.

Final Project

Image 41: TVC clip 1

Website Banner:

I monitored the website banner plan provided by my Account Manager, checked and corrected the copy, and worked on the colour correction of the creative.

Mistakes

Initially, I had some difficulty managing the work within a short timeline because I joined the project only three days before the TVC shoot. I also made some mistakes while checking the copy and coordinating the creative materials. Since the campaign had to go live quickly, I realized that I needed to be more careful and organized while handling multiple tasks at the same time.

Learnings

Through this project, I learned how a TVC campaign moves from the pre-production stage to the final launch. I gained practical experience in costume planning, monitoring website banner development, checking copy, and working on colour correction. I also learned how to work under a tight deadline and coordinate with the Account Manager and Creative Team to ensure that the final materials were ready on time.

GREY JOURNEY

Some memorable moments from my internship journey at Grey Advertising Bangladesh

Internship Outcome

My internship at Grey Advertising Bangladesh has been a valuable experience that helped me understand how an advertising agency works in a real professional environment. Working as a Client Service Intern with the bKash team gave me practical experience in client servicing, campaign planning, creative coordination, and communication.

During these three months, I worked on different bKash campaigns and projects. I learned how to take client briefs, work with the Strategy and Creative Teams, follow up on deliverables, check copy and visuals, and communicate changes with different teams. I also worked on process flows, Key Visuals, digital content, POSM, scripts, and campaign materials.

One of the biggest things I learned was how important coordination is in client service. Working on large campaigns taught me to keep track of multiple versions, deadlines, corrections, and client requirements. I also became more careful about checking copy, visuals, and final outputs before sharing them.

This internship also helped me improve my communication, teamwork, presentation, quality checking, and time management skills. I learned how to handle feedback, communicate with senior team members, and work in a fast-paced agency environment. My mistakes also helped me understand where I need to improve and become more careful in my work.

Overall, this internship helped me connect my academic knowledge with real-world advertising and PR-related work. It gave me a better understanding of client servicing, brand communication, campaign execution, and teamwork. The experience has made me more confident and prepared for my future career in communication and public relations.

- Campaign Execution: I gained experience working on different bKash campaigns and learned how a campaign moves from a brief to the final output.
- TVC Project Management: I had the opportunity to work on two broadcast TVC projects, which helped me understand the coordination, planning, and creative process involved in a large-scale production.
- Large Campaign Management: Working on the 12 Years of Nationwide Book Reading Movement with Bishwa Shahitto Kendro (BSK) gave me experience with a major upcoming campaign and its large event planning.
- Creative & Communication Skills: I learned how to work with Creative and Strategy Teams, check copy and visuals, and make sure the final communication follows the client's requirements.
- Problem Solving & Adaptability: Working on multiple projects with frequent changes and corrections taught me to adapt quickly, manage pressure, and learn from my mistakes.
